PHL University College is located in Hasselt, in the heart of the Euregion Meus Rhine. PHL is often referred to as "the University College with the network". Not only because for the past decade ICT has been a fully integrated part in all curricula (every student has a laptop), but also because of our close links with the local and federal government, industries and other organizations.

We are a young, vibrant, modern, dynamic institution in a multicultural environment. We are always in for a challenge and try to keep in touch with the world around us. This web site hopes to provide the most essential information about us, our region, our educational programmes, to those interested in all that PHL University College has to offer.
